As a retired Professional Engineer of NY and VA, and a long career in Naval Nuclear Propulsion, I strongly support the approval of the Yucca Mountain Project as a repository of high level nuclear material. I believe it would be safer to have the material under government control at that location rather than temporarily stored at the numerous power generation sites.

Our country needs more domestically generated power. Resolution of the spent fuel storage problem may permit investment in new nuclear power generation.

Thanks for your consideration. Harry M. Steven
